Distant Reiki?

So, you've seen this newsletter, or you've found my website (www.reikiken.com), and you've decided that Reiki is for you? But you don't live near to either Darlington or Co Durham? Or you don't live in the UK?

The answer - distant Reiki. Distant Reiki is the same as contact Reiki, apart from the fact that you're not coming to see me here in Darlington in the UK. You will be wherever you are, wherever in the world that might be.

What do you do? Email me on mail@reikiken.com, and tell me what you need from a Reiki treatment. I'll send you details of what you need to do. Which is what? Answer - make an appointment with me, and tell me the date and time when you want the first session.

If you think distant Reiki sounds too good to be true, you'll have nothing to lose, because your first session with me - whether contact or distant -is completely free!

That saves you over £25!

After the session, leave it a day or so, and see how you feel, see how the Reiki is doing its job within you, then email me, and tell me what you experienced both during and after the session.

- At the time of your appointment(s) you should be at home, relaxing preferably in a room on your own, your bedroom would be ideal. Make sure no one disturbs you, and make sure also that you have your phone switched off.
- During the session you will experience the same sensations that contact clients experience.
- Each session of Reiki takes an hour.
- The Reiki energy stays within you for up to a week and a half after the day of the appointment.)

Interested? Email me for further details - now!

Merry Christmas

I hope it's a really good Christmas for you, whoever you are, and wherever you are in the world, and I hope 2018 is a great year for all of us!

Does Energy Healing Work? Watch 'Healer' Charlie Goldsmith And Decide For Yourself

Does energy healing work? Charlie Goldsmith knows it does and—if seeing is believing—he'll make you a believer with his new show, The Healer on TLC.

But this isn't smoke and mirrors. The Australian energy healer, who reluctantly discovered his talent at the ripe age of 18, is now on a mission to take energy medicine mainstream. To date, Goldsmith has volunteered his time—and talents—to two scientific studies. An additional double-blind study is slated for 2018.

In the first study, published in The Journal of Alternative and Complementary Medicine in 2015, he treated 50 reports of pain at a 76% success rate and 29 reports of non-pain problems at a 79% success rate. The study, conducted at NYU's Lutheran Hospital, is also what caught the attention of Bunim/Murray and landed him a TV deal. The second is still underway. Prior to the studies done in the public eye, Goldsmith spent years healing as many as he could, often those who had been failed by countless doctors and traditional medicine. He has never once charged for his work—his day job includes working as Managing Director at Cassette, a creative communications agency he founded at 19, and Pumpy Jackson, a clean, sugar-free brand of chocolate he founded as well.

Goldsmith's success rates are undeniably high, having relieved people of all ages, with issues ranging from chronic pain to infections and auto-immune disorders, often in 60 seconds or less. But he confessed to me that it's not an exact art.

"To be honest, sometimes I'll work on something that—medically—is seemingly simple and not fix it. And something that is medically complex—something medically incurable, for example—that might be quite easy for me," he said.

On Goldsmith's site, Dr. Ramsey Joudeh, from NYU's Lutheran Medical Center, attests to Goldsmith's miraculous healing powers:

"Most of our narcotics decrease a patient's pain by three to five points. If you go from a 10, meaning the worst pain you can imagine, to five, that's significant. In some cases Charlie reduced a patient's pain from 10 to zero."
